MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT & FOUNDER

The world of surfacing for recreation and athletics is full of possibilities.

Each Surface America surfacing & flooring choice has the potential to significantly enhance the facility ... and enjoyment by those who use it. Since 1993, our mission has been to combine the best material components with old-fashioned client service. That mission, after thousands of projects and more than 30 million square feet of surfacing & flooring installed, remains steadfast. It's how we've earned the reputation as having the industry's best value.

Surface America is the nation's leading playground surfacing provider.

We also specialize in resilient indoor flooring and outdoor surfacing. Our steadfast management team collectively brings more than 100 years of hands-on experience in the project management world for recreation & athletic facilities. Surface America has the complete skill set, from concept to completion.

Every product and system is designed and manufactured with long-term performance in mind.

We select the best material components available and design each surface & flooring system with the characteristics necessary for the application. With the exception of Boflex & Actiflex, all materials are sourced from – and products made in – the USA. Whether considering a roll good produced with the world's best technology, a dense factory-molded product formulated for the ultimate in durability, or a mixed on-site system to meet your specification, and preferred design, you can be assured that quality control and customer satisfaction are our highest priorities.

Respectfully,

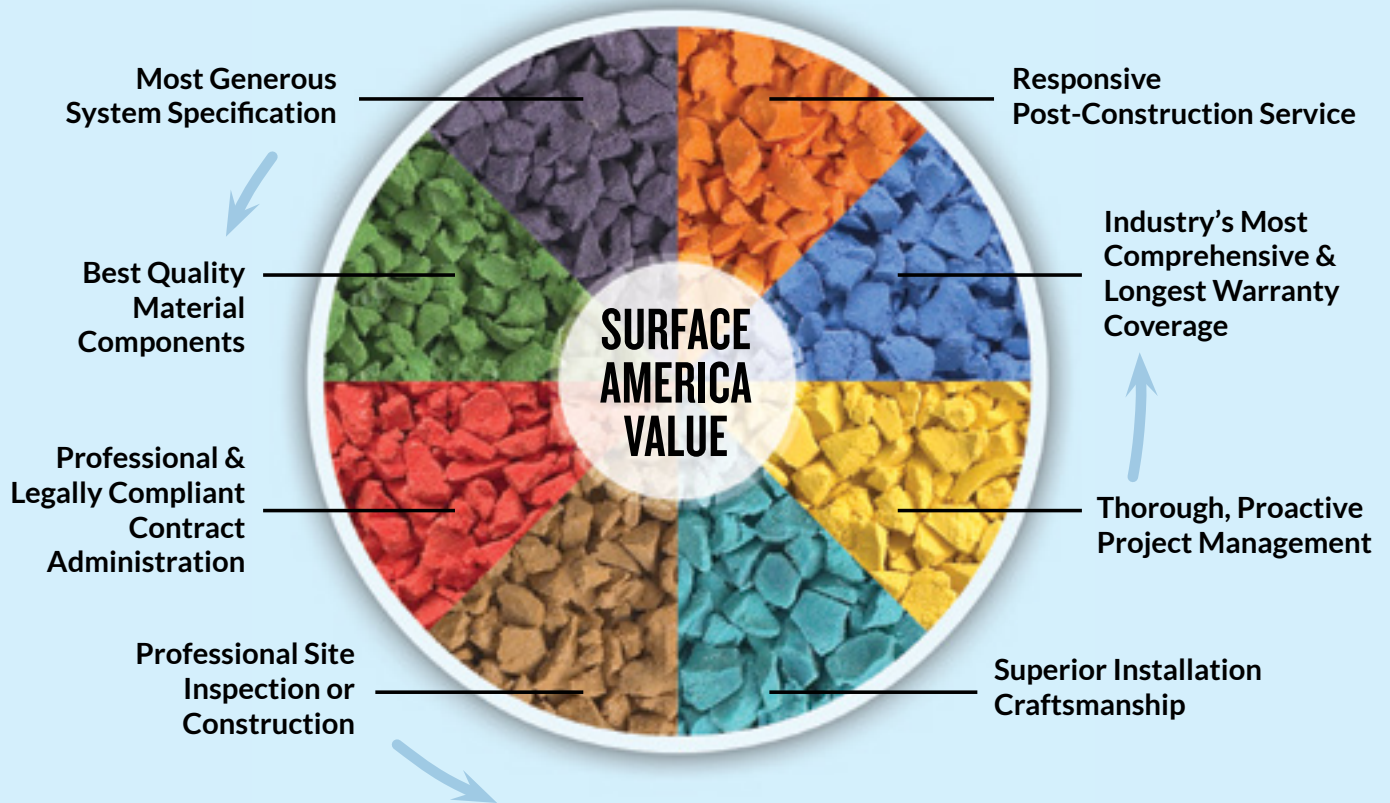

Jim Dobmeier
President & Founder
Surface America, Inc.

Ecore Athletic flooring has been dominating the fitness industry for more than 25 years. Products feature superior performance by application, enhanced force restitution and exceptional sound & vibration absorption.

Surface America sister company A-Turf is a national builder of synthetic turf athletic fields for all levels of play: from Little League baseball to professional football.

Surface America is an integral part of the diversified Ecore Group.

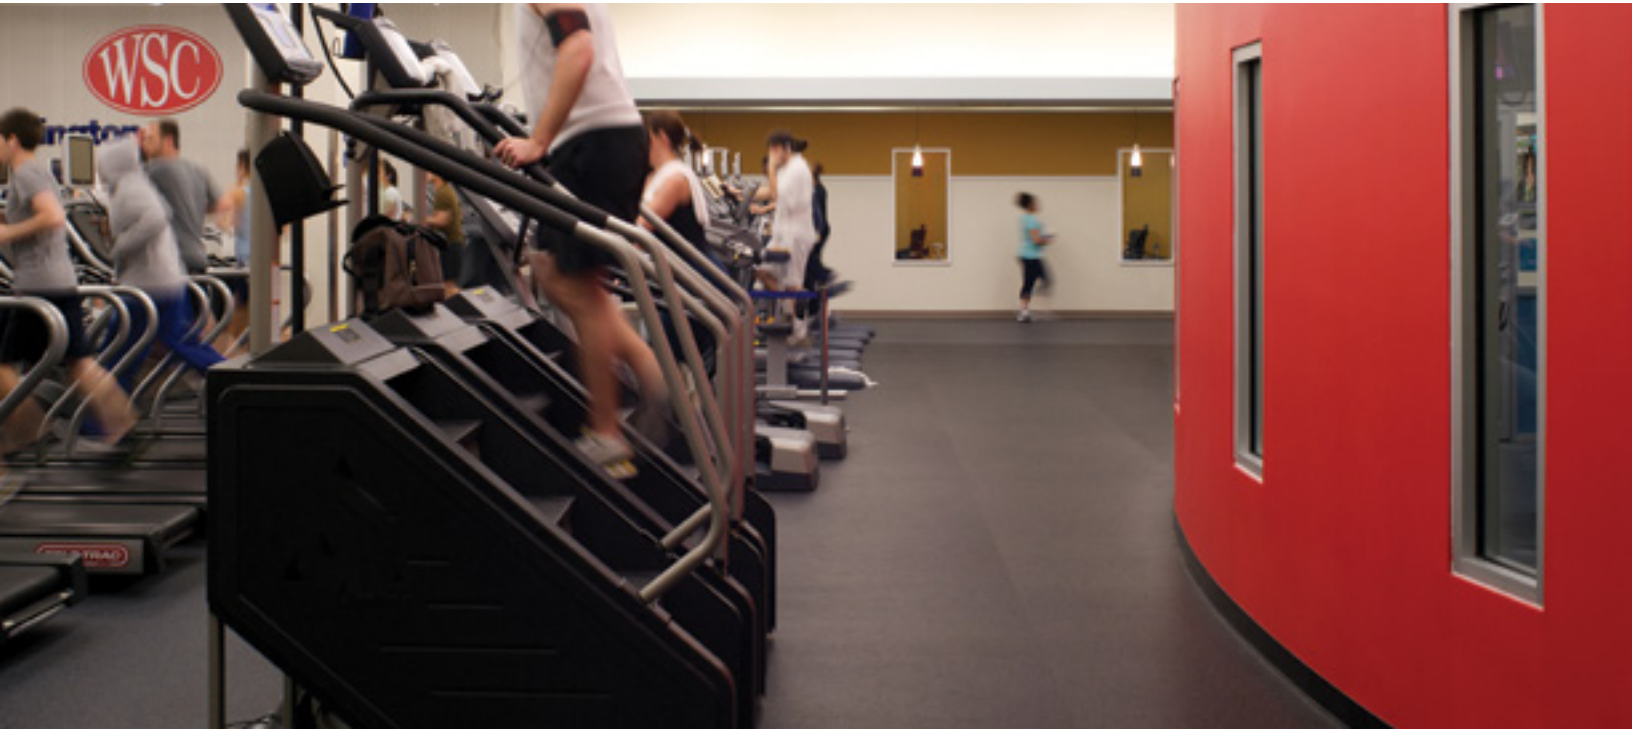

As a subsidiary of the US-based Ecore Group, Surface America's capabilities are broad, our bonding capacity is great, our financial strength is sure, our warranties are superior and our approach to business is responsible.

Ecore traces its history back to 1871 when D.W. Dodge established a cork business in New York. Following relocation to Lancaster, Pennsylvania in 1876 and becoming the nation's second-largest cork company over a century later, the 1980s brought a transformation to focus on recycled rubber technology. Ecore is now the largest processor and user of recycled rubber, reusing more than 75 million pounds of material each year. All of its products – from commercial flooring and sports surfacing to playground safety surfacing and sound insulation – are engineered with precision at every step to be the smartest solutions on the market. While the lion share of Ecore products are made from recycled rubber, cork is still very much a key ingredient in its products for the industrial, aerospace and automotive segments.
